Allergy/Immunology Care, Rheumatology Care

EXPLANATION OF THE TWO SPECIALTIES:

An allergy is a reaction by your immune system to something that does not bother most other people. Those who have allergies often are sensitive to more than one thing. Asthma is a chronic disease of the airways that makes breathing difficult. Its symptoms are usually a reaction to an allergen or irritant.

Rheumatologic conditions are autoimmune diseases which cause your immune system to attack healthy cells in your body by mistake. Autoimmune diseases can affect many parts of the body. Some examples of rheumatologic conditions include rheumatoid arthritis, lupus, spondyloarthritis and vasculitis.
